

Wilderdays Forest School

Prices 2025-26

We aim get a balance between making forest school financially sustainable and as accessible as possible, especially to the home educating community, so we provide a three-tiered pricing policy.

- The regular payment is £17.00 a session.
- The reduced price is £15.50 a session.
This price is for families facing financial hardship
- The last option is £18.00 a session for people that can afford to pay more.
Families that pay this are helping to make forest school possible for some other families.
- 20% discount for a sibling's place.

There is no proof of income required. This is on the basis of trust and you aren't obliged to stick to the same price band over time. As your financial situation changes, you can make a different choice from one term to the next, no questions asked.

By making payment you are agreeing to giving me one month's notice of leaving forest school. This gives me time to fill the place with one of the children on the waiting list. You will be charged for any sessions within that month, unless I am able to fill the place before that month has passed.

By making payment you agree to the conditions as laid out in the welcome letter.
